

(94)

% 08.10.2009

15

Present:- Mr.Kameshwar Singh, Advocate for the petitioner.
Mr.J.S.Alag and Mr.J.S.Lamba, Advocate for respondent/BSES
Mr.Vinod Sherawal, Advocate for respondent No.2.

+ Crl.Rev.P.No.568/2007 and Crl.M.A.10039/2007
*

The impugned order against which the present revision petition has been filed is in fact an order issuing NBW against the petitioner on the basis of information given by the co-accused that he is also the accused in the present case for violating the provisions of the Electricity Act and on that basis the petitioner was arrested and was released on bail subject to deposit of Rs. 40,000/-. This is an interlocutory order against which a revision petition cannot be filed as the matter is pending before the learned Special Judge.

All the grievances of the petitioner will be considered by the Special Judge while deciding the matter finally and if it is found that the petitioner was wrongly arrested in this case, the amount which has been deposited by the petitioner shall be returned to him. The petitioner would also be entitled to take steps for his wrongful arrest, if it is so found against the

Signature Not Verified

Digitally Signed By: A Certify that the digital file and physical file have been compared and the digital data is as per the physical file and no page is missing.

Authorities as also against the person who gave his name.

8

With these observations, the revision petition and application stand disposed of. A copy of this order be sent to the Special Judge concerned.

MOOL CHAND GARGI

OCTOBER 08, 2009
dc