dispute in place of Mr. Rakesh U. Upadhyay, Advocate;

(ii). the interlocutory application being: IA No.9664/2013, referred to above, be placed before the learned Arbitrator appointed by this court, who will, after giving due opportunity to both sides, adjudicate upon the same;

(iii). OMP Nos.562/2013, 389/2013 and 216/2013 be also placed before the learned Arbitrator, who will treat the same as petitions under Section 17 of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996 (in short the Act) and similarly after giving due opportunity to both sides, pass appropriate orders in accordance with the law;

(iv). Pending the disposal of the interlocutory application and the petitions, referred to in clause (ii) and (iii) above, interim orders dated 05.03.2013 passed in OMP 216/2013 and interim order dated 23.04.2013 in OMP 389/2013, will continue to operate till the final disposal of the OMPs and the applications.

(v). the sum of Rs.6 Crores deposited by the petitioner – M/s. Jay Polychem India Limited, shall remain deposited which shall abide by the orders of the learned Arbitrator.

2. It is ordered accordingly, in terms of agreed directions which are referred to hereinabove.

3. The Registry shall, in the meanwhile, renew the fixed deposit in the event its tenure has come to an end, till further orders are issued in that behalf.

4. Needless to say, the learned Arbitrator shall also, in addition to the above entertain claims and counter claims, if any, that may be
