CORAM: HONOURABLE MR. JUSTICE AJAY KUMAR TRIPATHI
ORAL ORDER

04 04.02.2015

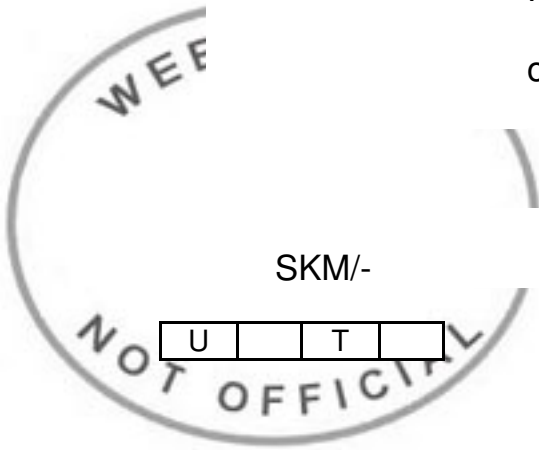

Heard learned counsel for the parties.

The victim is a minor girl. Laws are rather rigid and strict about protecting minors against sexual offence. Even according to the medical report, the victim girl is not over the age of 17 years. Allurement of marriage is said to be the reason for her exploitation by the petitioner, who himself is not minor, but is stated to be about 22 years.

The society cannot survive if the person like the petitioner is enlarged on bail with the kind of allegation made. However, if the parties reconcile their differences and overcome the stigma of the family of the victim girl, that is another issue, for which petitioner may thereafter approach the Court for appropriate direction.

Prayer for bail of the petitioner, above-named, however, is rejected at this stage in connection with Pipra P. S. Case No. 106 of 2014, pending in the Court of A.C.J.M., Motihari, East Champaran.
