ORAL JUDGMENT

Date: 06-05-2015

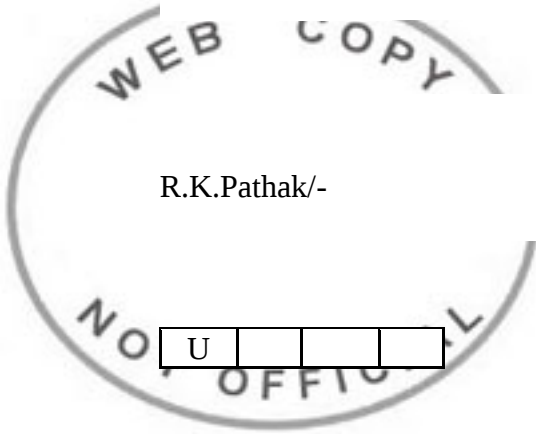

There is nothing on record to show that the petitioner is entitled to the same pay-scale as a regular Government servant. His expectation cannot become a ground for a direction upon the respondents unless obligation is created by the terms and conditions of appointment of the petitioner or on the basis of some notification issued relating to the petitioner as to his entitlement.

2. In absence of those materials, it is a fishy kind of writ application, looking for some kind of a windfall without any tangible evidence, which will entitle the petitioner to beget a direction or compel the Court to issue a mandamus upon the respondents.

3. Writ application is dismissed.

4. So far as regular payment is concerned, there is a modality for such payment. If any changes are required in that, the Government has to take a call not the Court.
