CORAM : M.T. JOSHI, J.

DATE : JUNE 11, 2015

PER COURT :

Heard both sides.

2] It is an admitted fact that an appeal is now
filed by the complainant before the Sessions Court and the same is even admitted.

3] In the circumstances, present applications for condonation of delay as as well as for grant of leave to file appeal are superfluous. There is no need to condone the delay or to grant leave to file appeal.

4] Both the applications are, therefore, rejected.

5] The appeal filed before the Sessions Court to continue as per the due procedure of law.
