

Apparently, the injured was in the hospital for about two months under treatment. On this aspect, learned counsel for the applicant pointed out that there is interpolation on the date of discharge and further stated that the injured was not in the hospital for such a longer period and this has not been validly established. He further pointed out towards the answers given by the Medical Officers. During the cross examination to the effect that when the injured was examined by the Medical Officer, he was found in drunken condition. By pointing out this, it is submitted on behalf of the applicants that they can be released on bail considering the prospect of their appeals and no immediate prospect of taking the appeal for final hearing, mainly considering that during the trial they were on bail. Considering the above circumstances and the effect of the evidence and possibility or otherwise of the appeal to be taken up early, in the opinion of this Court, the present applicants can be released on bail during the pendency of the appeal. Application is allowed. The applicants be released on same bail as granted by the trial Court with fresh bonds to be executed before the trial Court. Bail application is disposed of. Call for R and P.
