Crl.M.C.No.1026 of 2015

Dated this the 25th day of February, 2015

O R D E R

The petitioner herein is the accused in nine complaints brought under Section 138 of the Negotiable Instruments Act. All these cases are now pending before the Judicial First Class Magistrate Court, Irinjalakkuda. She wants to surrender before the learned Magistrate and apply for bail. She somehow got information from some source, which is not known, that the learned Magistrate would insist on production of different sets of sureties in the nine cases. It is not known from where the petitioner got such information. Any way, she apprehends that she will be remanded to custody in case she could not produce eighteen sureties. I do not think that the learned Magistrate will insist on production of different sets of sureties in the different cases. What the court would look into is not in fact the number of the sureties, but the solvency of the sureties produced by the accused to the extent of the total amount of the bond ordered in the nine cases. This Court does not think that any Magistrate in Kerala will maintain such an unjust or impractical approach.

With the above observations, this Crl.M.C. is closed. The petitioner can very well surrender before the learned Magistrate and make application for bail.
