B.SUDHEENDRA KUMAR, J.

Crl.R.P. No.312 of 2013 and
Crl.R.P.No.553 of 2013

Dated this the 11th day of November 2015

O R D E R

When the revision petitions have been taken up for hearing, the learned counsel for the revision petitioners has submitted that the revision petitioners are not pressing for hearing the matter on merits and that the revision petitioners want only exemption from their personal appearance before the trial court. Suffice it to say that having gone through the order impugned, I do not find any infirmity warranting interference by this Court.

In the result, these revision petitions stand dismissed.

However, the court below is directed to grant exemption to the revision petitioners from their personal appearance before the court on all posting dates, except on days where their presence is necessary, on filing application in this regard, by the revision petitioners before the trial court.
