The prayer made by the petitioner herein is essentially a writ directing the Police to complete investigation and to submit final report in the crime. Now it is reported that the investigation is over, and that the Police has submitted final report in court. If the petitioner is aggrieved by the final report, he can, of course, seek other remedies available under the law. The report made by the Police that investigation stands closed and final report is filed, is recorded in the proceeding, and the writ petition is accordingly closed without prejudice to the right of the petitioner to seek appropriate relief available under the law, if he is in any manner aggrieved by the final report.
