COMMON JUDGMENT: (Per Hon'ble Sri Justice R. Subhash Reddy)

These appeals are filed aggrieved by the common order, dated 19.12.2002, passed in O.P.Nos.796 of 2000 and 600 of 2001 by the Family Court, Hyderabad. Hence, they are heard together and disposed of by this common judgment.

The appellant and the respondent are wife and husband. The appellant herein filed O.P.No.796 of 2000, under Section 10 of Indian Divorce Act, to dissolve the marriage solemnized between her and the respondent on 12.10.1989, whereas the respondent filed O.P.No.600 of 2001, under Section 32 of Indian Divorce Act, seeking restitution of conjugal rights, along with O.P.No.697 of 2001 seeking to appoint him as guardian of minor children, namely, Priscilla, Vicky Charles and Sundeep Ebender. The Family Court, by order, dated 19.12.2002, while dismissing O.P.No.796 of 2000, allowed O.P.No.600 and 2001 and disposed of O.P.No.697 of 2001 with certain directions. Aggrieved by the orders passed in O.P.Nos.796 of 2000 and 600 of 2001, the present appeals are filed by the wife.

When the matters are called, it is submitted by the learned counsel for parties that during pendency of the appeals, parties have settled the matter, they are happily living together and the three children have become majors and hence, subject matter of the appeals has become infructuous.

The parties, who are present in person and who have been identified by their respective counsel, have stated that the disputes between them are settled and they are living together.

Recording the same, the appeals are dismissed as infructuous. Miscellaneous Petitions, if any, pending in these appeals shall stand closed. No costs.
