It is not in dispute that the order of the writ court has been complied with. However, learned counsel for the petitioners prays that there is some shortfall in so far as the grant of interest is concerned.

Considering the fact that the order of the writ court has been complied with, the instant contempt petition is disposed of with liberty to the petitioners to approach the respondents with the calculations of the shortfall and in which eventuality the respondents would be bound to address the same as expeditiously as possible.
