M.M.S. BEDI, J. (ORAL)

The plaintiff- petitioner has filed a suit for recovery against the defendant- respondent. The suit is at the stage of production of defendant evidence. The plaintiff- petitioner sought amendment of the plaint seeking to plead about a document/ affidavit dated September 17, 2009 alleged to have been executed by defendant- respondent No.1. The said document/ affidavit was allegedly executed by defendant- respondent No.1 on the basis of which an FIR was registered. Request of plaintiff- petitioner has been declined by the trial Court.

I have heard learned counsel for the petitioner. The affidavit which is sought to be incorporated in the pleadings has already been brought on the record. Its admissibility, relevance and mode of proof is yet to be determined by the trial Court at the time of final adjudication of the claim of the plaintiff- petitioner in the suit for recovery. The amendment sought for appears to be not necessary as it is not the necessary requirement of law that evidence should be pleaded in the pleadings.
