K. KANNAN J. (ORAL)

1. In a suit for recovery of possession under Section 6 of the Specific Relief Act where the plaintiff claims a particular property as the property in his possession and he was dispossessed, the reference to khasra number is wholly irrelevant. If there is a reference to khasra number, I will not take that of any significance for defendant to apply to determine the location of the property in which khasra number it situate. The petitioner will avail whatever recourse he deems appropriate to secure identification of the property and obtain the relief. The assessment of location of the property in a particular khasra number through appointment of commissioner was a needless exercise and rightfully rejected by the Court below.

2. I find no reason for interference in the civil revision. The civil revision is dismissed.
