Main case

The petitioner has approached this Court by way of instant petition under Section 482 of the Code of Criminal Procedure (for short 'Cr.P.C.') invoking its inherent jurisdiction for quashing of FIR No.144 dated 20.4.2010 registered under Sections 419, 420, 468, 471 and 120-B of the Indian Penal Code ('IPC' for short), at Police Station Sector-17, Chandigarh and the consequential proceedings arising therefrom, on the basis of compromise dated 19.7.2014 (Annexure P-3).

Notice of motion was issued.

During the pendency of this petition, complainant appeared before the learned Chief Judicial Magistrate on 7.4.2015 and got recorded his statement, which reads as under:-

“Statement of Sh. Rakesh Goyal son of late Sh. Krishan Lal, complainant on SA along with Sh.Subodh Walia, Advocate, without oath.

That I along with my other family members have entered into memorandum of family settlement dated 19.7.2014 and the court decree dated 19.7.2014 has been passed by the court of Sh. KK Jain, Civil Judge (Sr. Div.), Chandigarh on the basis of memorandum of family settlement. In view of the statement of the parties i.e., Anil Kumar Jain and others in the civil suits titled as Rikash Goyal and others Vs. Bhagwan Dass and others which was pending in court of Sh.Bhagwan Dass and others which was pending in court of Sh.Pradeep Singh, Civil Judge (Jr.Div.) Chandigarh and civil suit titled as Rikash Kumar and others Vs. Rohit Kumar and others which was pending in the court of Ms. Shifa, Civil Judge (Jr.Div.), Chandigarh have been disposed off. The FIR No.144 of 2010 under Section 420 IPC etc., PS Sector-17, Chandigarh lodged against Anil Kumar Jain be quashed. I have no objection if the said FIR is quashed by the Hon'ble High Court in quashing

Chief Judicial Magistrate,

Chandigarh. 07.04.2014”

The learned Chief Judicial Magistrate, Chandigarh, passed the following order on 7.4.2015:-

“Present: Complainant with counsel Sh. Subodh Walia, Advocate.

Accused Anil Kumar Jain in person with counsel Sh. Rupinder Kumar, Advocate.

File taken up today on the application moved by learned counsel for the accused as the parties have settled their dispute and the statement of the parties is required to be recorded. Statement recorded today separately. Now, to come up on the date already fixed i.e. 06.05.2015.

Dated: 07.04.2015

(Anubhav Sharma)

Chief Judicial Magistrate,

Chandigarh. 07.04.2015”

Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that the parties have decided to bury the hatchet and are living peacefully. Learned counsel for the petitioner further submits that continuation of the impugned FIR and subsequent criminal proceedings arising therefrom, are liable to be quashed in the interest of justice.

Learned counsel for respondent No.2 also fairly states that parties have entered into compromise and he has got no objection in case the impugned FIR with consequential proceedings arising therefrom is ordered to be quashed.

Having heard the learned counsel for the parties and after going through the record of the case, this Court is of the considered opinion that it is a fit case for exercising the inherent jurisdiction of this Court under Section 482 Cr.P.C., so as to secure the ends of justice. It is so said because the parties have arrived at an out of Court settlement by way of compromise (Annexure P-3). The compromise is without any pressure and a genuine one. In such a situation, continuation of the prosecution would result in sheer abuse of process of law.

The above-said view taken by this Court also finds support from the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India in Shiji @ Pappu and others versus Radhika and another, 2012 (1) RCR (criminal) 9 and also from the larger Bench judgment of this Court in Kulwinder Singh and others versus State of Punjab and another reported as 2007 (3) RCR (criminal) 1052. The observations made by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in para 13 of the judgment in Shiji's case (supra), which can be gainfully followed in the present case, read as under:

“It is manifest that simply because an offence is not compoundable under Section 320 IPC is by itself no reason for the High Court to refuse exercise of its power under Section 482 Cr.P.C. That power can in our opinion be exercised in cases where there is no chance of recording a conviction against the accused and the entire exercise of a trial is destined to be an exercise in futility. There is a subtle distinction between compounding of offences by the parties before the trial Court or in appeal on one hand and the exercise of power by the High Court to quash the prosecution under Section 482 Cr.P.C. on the other. While a Court trying an accused or hearing an appeal against conviction, may not be competent to permit compounding of an offence based on a settlement arrived at between the parties in cases where the offences are not compoundable under Section 320, the High Court may quash the prosecution even in cases where the offences with which the accused stand charged are non-compoundable. The inherent powers of the High Court under Section 482 Cr.P.C. are not for that purpose controlled by Section 320 Cr.P.C. Having said so, we must hasten to add that the plenitude of the power under Section 482 Cr.P.C. by itself, makes it obligatory for the High Court to exercise the same with utmost care and caution. The width and the nature of the power itself demands that its exercise is sparing and only in cases where the High Court is, for reasons to be recorded, of the clear view that continuance of the prosecution would be nothing but an abuse of the process of law. It is neither necessary nor proper for us to enumerate the situations in which the exercise of power under Section 482 may be justified. All that we need to say is that the exercise of power must be for securing the ends of justice and only in cases where refusal to exercise that power may result in the abuse of the process of law. The High court may be justified in declining interference if it is called upon to appreciate evidence for it cannot assume the role of an appellate court while dealing with a petition under Section 482 of the Criminal Procedure Code. Subject to the above, the High Court will have to consider the facts and circumstances of each case to determine whether it is a fit case in which the inherent powers may be invoked.”

Reverting back to the facts of the present case, this Court has satisfied itself that the compromise arrived at between the parties is a genuine one. They have got their statements recorded before the learned trial court, without any pressure. In view of the genuine compromise arrived at between the parties and also in view of the report received from the learned trial court, this Court feels no hesitation to conclude that the continuation of the prosecution any further would be nothing but sheer abuse of the process of law. It would result in wastage of valuable time of the Court because no chance of conviction is left.

Considering the peculiar facts and circumstances of the case noted above, coupled with the reasons aforementioned and to secure the ends of justice, FIR No.144 dated 20.4.2010 registered under Sections 419, 420, 468, 471 and 120-B IPC at Police Station Sector-17, Chandigarh and the consequential proceedings arising therefrom only qua the petitioner are ordered to be quashed.

Resultantly, with the above-said observations made, the instant petition stands allowed.
