

(petitioners herein) have been duly recorded and it has been opined that a compromise has been effected between the parties voluntarily and without any coercion or pressure.

Learned counsel appearing for the complainant in Court today also makes a statement that in the light of the compromise he would have no objection to the FIR being quashed.

A Full Bench of this Court in Kulwinder Singh and others Vs. State of Punjab and another, 2007(3) RCR (Criminal) 1052 has taken a view that in appropriate cases this Court in exercise of its powers under Section 482 Cr.P.C. can intervene and bring to an end the criminal prosecution in the light of compromise that may have been effected between the parties, even in relation to non-compoundable offences.

In the facts of the present case, since the parties have taken a conscious decision to bury the hatchet and to continue their lives in peace and harmony, it would be an abuse of the process of law as well as of the Court for the criminal prosecution to be permitted to continue in pursuance to the impugned FIR having been registered.

For the reasons recorded above, the present petition is allowed. Impugned FIR No. 113, dated 24.06.2012, under Sections 326, 324, 323, 148, 149 IPC, registered at Police Station Guruharsahai, District Ferozepur and all proceedings emanating therefrom stand quashed.

Petition allowed.
