...Respondents

CORAM : HON'BLE MR.JUSTICE MAHESH GROVER

for the petitioner.

MAHESH GROVER, J.

The petitioner prays for appropriate directions to be issued to the official respondents to protect his life and property.

It is alleged that the official respondents are threatening the petitioner's possession as also his life and liberty. In the considered view of this court, resorting to the provisions of Section 482 Cr.P.C. at this juncture would not be a apt remedy in the wake of alternate remedies available to an individual. The court can exercise its inherent jurisdiction only if extra-ordinary circumstances are shown to exist which would warrant the exercise of such a power to thwart the abuse to the process of law. Considering the fact that the petitioner has a remedy in civil law to protect his life and property, if so advised, he would be at liberty to resort to the same and in case his life is threatened with violence with the police taking no action, the petitioner would be at liberty to resort to the provisions of Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. Apart from this, even if nuisance is being created by the said respondents, the petitioner would still have a remedy in law. Thus in the considered view of this Court there would be efficacious remedies available to the petitioner and he may take recourse to the same if so advised.

Petition disposed of.
