AJAY TEWARI, J. (Oral)

By this petition the petitioner has challenged the dismissal order dated 16.01.2003, the Appellate and Revisional order. A perusal of the dismissal order reveals that right through the inquiry proceedings the petitioner continued to play hide and seek. For about a year the chargesheet could not be served upon him. When inquiry started he suddenly materialised and prayed that chargesheet be supplied to him and fresh inquiry dates be fixed. That prayer was accepted. After the inquiry where he was found guilty of embezzlement, show cause for proposed punishment of dismissal was sought to be served upon him. Despite numerous communications at his registered home address the show cause notice could not be served upon him. Ultimately, by the impugned order dated 16.01.2003 the competent authority dismissed him from service. He filed an appeal after 7 years without there being any application for condonation of delay. That appeal and the subsequent revision having been dismissed on the ground of limitation the petitioner is before this Court.

Today learned counsel for the petitioner has argued that the petitioner was mentally upset and, therefore, he could not appear but there is no such plea nor any material regarding the same was placed either before the Appellate or Revisional Authority or before this Court.

I find no reason to take a different view.

Petition is dismissed.

Since the main case has been decided, the Civil Misc. Application, if any, also stands disposed of.
