.... Opposite Party/s

Appearance :

For the Petitioner/s : Mr. Rajesh Kumar Singh

For the Opposite Party/s : Mr. Dilip Kumar(App)

CORAM: HONOURABLE MR. JUSTICE PRABHAT KUMAR
JHA
ORAL ORDER

3 16-08-2016 Heard both sides.

The petitioner apprehends his arrest in Kuraskanta (Kuari) P.S. case No.18/2013 under Section 304/201 of the Indian Penal Code.

The petitioner himself brought two dead bodies in the Primary Health Centre and disclosed that he injected the injection taking the same to be of Hepatitis B to them but the doctor after perusing the vial found that the vial was of SAMVAC, which is injected at the time of operation for relaxing the muscles, and on account of such wrong injection both the deceased died.

It is submitted that petitioner is innocent. The petitioner is a technically trained person. The aforesaid drug is generally used under anesthesia.

It appears that petitioner is a quack and he injected wrong injection to both the deceased on account of which they died.

Considering the facts aforesaid, I am not inclined to enlarge the petitioner on anticipatory bail. Accordingly, the same is rejected.
