2 23-11-2016

Against an order passed by the Juvenile Justice

Board, an aggrieved party has remedy of appeal under Section 52
of the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2000. Under the new Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015 such provision is there under Section 101.

In that view of the matter, learned counsel for the petitioner seeks permission to withdraw this criminal revision application with a liberty to prefer against the impugned order, permission is accorded.

This application is dismissed as withdrawn with a liberty, as sought for, on behalf of the petitioner.

If any question of delay in presenting the appeal before the court below arises, the Court expects that the time spent by the petitioner in pursuing the present criminal revision application shall be taken into account for the purpose of considering his application for condonation of delay.
