CORAM : M.T. JOSHI, J.

DATE : MARCH 01, 2016

PER COURT :

Heard both sides.

2] The reasons forwarded by learned Judicial Magistrate F.C. would show that, since the decree passed in the Hindu Marriage Petition was confirmed upto the Supreme Court declaring thereby that present petitioner is living in adultery, the learned Judicial Magistrate has varied the earlier order of grant of maintenance to the present petitioner.

3] Learned Sessions Judge also, in Revision, for the same reasons, maintained the said order based on the fact that the competent civil court has declared that the present petitioner is living in adultery.

4] In the circumstances, no fault can be found with the impugned orders. Present Criminal Writ Petition is therefore dismissed.
