CORAM : SHANTANU S. KEMKAR AND PRAKASH D. NAIK, JJ.

DATED : DECEMBER 9, 2016.

P.C. :

Not on Board. Production of papers are allowed at 11.00 a.m.

2 Having heard the learned counsel appearing for the parties, we find that since there is an order of injunction from releasing the amount in favour of the petitioner, the State could not release the amount in favour of the petitioner. In the circumstances, no case for contempt is made out. Contempt Petition is, therefore, dismissed.

3 However, it is open for the petitioner to approach the Civil Court raising all the grounds including the ground raised in this petition. All contentions of the parties are kept open.
