Vs.

1.The State of Tamil Nadu
represented by its Secretary to Government
Prohibition & Excise Department
Fort St. George, Chennai 600 009.

2.The District Collector & District Magistrate
Tiruvannamalai District
Tiruvannamalai.

.. Respondents

Petition filed under Article 226 of the Constitution of India praying for issuance of a Writ of Habeas Corpus calling for the records relating to the order of detention D.O.NO.63/2015-C2 dated 22/11/2015 passed by the 2nd respondent and to quash the same and also directing the detenu RAMU @ RAMASAMY S/O. KRISHNAN who is presently detained in the CENTRAL PRISON, VELLORE to be produced before this Hon`ble court and set him at liberty.

For Petitioner : Mr.S.Kumaradevan

For Respondents : Mr.M.Maharaja, APP

ORDER

[Order of the Court was made by K.KALYANASUNDARAM, J.]

Challenge is made to the order of detention passed by the second respondent vide Proceedings in D.O.NO.63/2015-C2 dated 22/11/2015, whereby the detenu / the husband of the petitioner, by name, RAMU @ RAMASAMY, aged 33 years, S/O. KRISHNAN, was branded as a "Goonda" under the Tamil Nadu Prevention of Dangerous Activities of Bootleggers, Cyber Law offenders, Drug Offenders, Forest Offenders, Goondas, Immoral Traffic Offenders, Sand Offenders, Sexual Offenders, Slum Grabbers and Video Pirates Act, 1982 [Tamilnadu Act 14 of 1982].

2. Though many grounds have been raised in the petition, the learned counsel appearing for the petitioner, confines his argument only in respect of non-application of mind on the part of the detaining authority in passing the order of detention.

3. Learned counsel appearing for the petitioner submitted that there is a delay of 9 days in sending the samples before the Court as the sponsoring authority has collected the samples on 27.10.2015 but the same was sent to Court only on 04.11.2015 and subsequently, the samples were sent for chemical analysis and hence, the samples would have lost its real character. Hence, it is submitted that the Detention Order which has been passed on the basis of the Chemical Analysis report is indicative of total non-application of mind on the part of the detaining authority and the same is vitiated and is unsustainable in law.

4. Per contra, the learned Additional Public Prosecutor would submit that the order of detention has been passed on cogent and sufficient materials and the same cannot be interfered with at the instance of the petitioner. Therefore, he submits that the Habeas Corpus Petition does not merit any consideration and the same is liable to be dismissed.

5. We have heard the learned counsel for both sides with regard to the facts and citation.

6. The ground raised by the learned counsel for the petitioner is that the delay in depositing the samples before the Court concerned. As evidenced from the documents, the samples were collected by the Sponsoring Authority on 27.10.2015; but the same were sent to Court only on 04.11.2015 and there is a delay of 9 days in sending the samples. Even after giving concession of 2 days intermittent holidays, still there is a delay of 7 days. This inordinate delay of 7 days in depositing the samples before the Court and thereafter, sending the same for chemical analysis will make the sample to lose its real character. Hence, the Detaining Authority has passed the Detention order in total non-application of mind which would vitiate the detention order.

7. A Division Bench of this Court in KAMALA Vs. THE STATE OF TAMIL NADU REP. BY THE SECRETARY TO GOVERNMENT, HOME, PROHIBITION & EXCISE DEPT., CHENNAI AND ANOTHER reported in 2013 [3] MLJ [CRL.] 671, has held thus:-

4.From a perusal of the booklet produced by the learned Additional Public Prosecutor, it is seen that though the samples were drawn from the seized material on 11.02.2013 by the investigating officer, they were sent for Chemical examination only on 14.02.2013. Thus, there is an unexplained delay in sending the samples for chemical analysis and no satisfactory explanation is also forthcoming from the learned Additional Public Prosecutor for the said delay.

5.The Hon'ble Division Bench of this Court, in a similar case, viz., SUNDARARAJAN Vs. THE STATE OF TAMIL NADU REP. BY ITS SECRETARY TO GOVERNMENT, AND ANOTHER [HCP.No.320/2009] decided on 23.03.2009, has been pleased to lay down as under:-

"4.Apart from the other grounds raised in the Habeas Corpus Petition, the learned counsel appearing for the petitioner has stressed the ground of delay in sending the sample, which was recovered from the detenu, to the chemical analyst for analysis. According to the learned counsel, though the sample of arrack was collected from the detenu on 15.09.2008, it was sent to the Assistant Director and Government Assistant Chemical Examiner, Regional Forensic Sciences Laboratory, for analysis only on 17.09.2008 and hence, there is an abnormal delay, which vitiates the order of detention passed against the detenu.

5.As seen from the records, it is clear that the sample of arrack, which was seized on 15.09.2008 from the detenu, was sent for chemical analysis only on 17.09.2008 and hence, there is an abnormal delay in sending the sample for chemical analysis, due to which, the sample will lose its character and there is no satisfactory explanation from the Public Prosecutor for the said delay."

8. In the light of the above facts and law and also taking into consideration the unexplained delay in sending the samples for chemical analysis, we have no hesitation in quashing the order of detention on the above mentioned grounds.

9. Accordingly, the Habeas Corpus Petition is allowed and the impugned detention order passed by the second respondent is set aside. The detenu is directed to be released forthwith unless his presence is required in connection with any other case.
