ORDER

This Criminal Original Petition has been filed seeking to call for the records in Crime No.750 of 2009 on the file of the 1st respondent and quash the FIR.

2. On the complaint lodged by one Pushparathinam, the third respondent herein, the first respondent police registered a case in Cr.No.750 of 2009 on 26.07.2009 under Section 420, IPC against Vijayakumar, challenging which, the accused is before this Court seeking quashment of the prosecution against him.

3. It is the case of the de facto complainant that she is a Sri Lankan national, settled in Switzerland and that her son was suffering from serious ailment bordering on mental derangement and despite treatment in the West, he could not be cured. While so, she saw the petitioner in several TV programmes, in which, he made tall claims about the efficacy of his medicines, believing which, she came with her son to Chennai on 21.08.2006 and consulted the petitioner on 28.08.2006. The petitioner collected a sum of Rs.15 lakhs upfront and every month, she paid a sum of Rs.10,000/- and her son was given some medicines which did not work at all. It is alleged that steadily, the petitioner milked money from the de facto complainant on the promise of curing her son and she had totally paid Rs.29,80,240/- to the petitioner, but, to no avail. Hence, the FIR.

4. The learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that the petitioner is a qualified Siddha doctor and just because the de facto complainant's son's ailment was not cured, it cannot attract provisions of Section 420, IPC. He further submitted that charging of professional fees is a prerogative of a professional and every practitioner is entitled to fix his own remuneration, depending upon his experience, expertise and goodwill he has earned in the field by virtue of his practice over the years and therefore, the petitioner cannot be prosecuted under Section 420, IPC.

5. The learned counsel for the petitioner placed strong reliance upon an unreported decision dated 13.08.2010 of this Court in Paramasivam vs. State, by Inspector of Police, Taluk Police Station, Krishnagiri District (Crl.O.P. No.4909 of 2008), wherein, a learned Single Judge of this Court has quashed the FIR against the petitioner therein by placing reliance upon the Circular Memorandum dated 15.06.2010 and 16.06.2010 issued by the Government and the interim order of injunction passed in W.P.M.P. No.10792 of 2006 in W.P. No.9691 of 2006 on 06.04.2006.

6. Per contra, the learned Additional Public Prosecutor submitted that the petitioner had cheated several innocent patients under the guise of curing their diseases and had collected huge sums of money from them.

7. This Court has given its anxious consideration to the rival submissions and perused the materials available on record.

8. Admittedly, the petitioner is not an Allopathy doctor. He claims himself to be a Siddha practitioner. It is not known what medicine he had given to the de facto complainant's son. But, according to the de facto complainant, the petitioner has collected a sum of Rs.29,80,240/- and had given a worthless medicine, which did not at all cure her son.

9. In the considered opinion of this Court, there are sufficient materials for the prosecution to proceed against the petitioner and this is a matter in which a full-fledged investigation has to be conducted and it is premature for this Court to interfere under Section 482, Cr.P.C. and quash the FIR in the light of the law laid down by the Supreme Court in State of Haryana vs. Bhajan Lal, [1992 Supp. (1) SCC 335].

10. Coming to the reliance placed by the learned counsel for the petitioner upon the unreported decision of this Court in Paramasivam (supra), as already referred to above, the order of interim injunction granted in W.P.M.P. No.10792 of 2006 in W.P. No.9691 of 2006, had weighed, inter alia, in the mind of the learned Single Judge, while quashing the FIR as against the petitioner therein. But, now, the fact remains that the said writ petition itself, viz., W.P. No.9691 of 2006, has been dismissed by this Court by a detailed order dated 20.10.2016 by placing reliance upon the unreported decision dated 23.01.2007 in Civil Appeal No.336 of 2007 (Private Medical Practitioners' Association vs. The State of Tamil Nadu and others), wherein, the Supreme Court has conclusively sealed the claims of quacks in the following emphatic words and dismissed the appeal with costs quantified at Rs.50,000/-:

"Counsel for the parties have been heard.

Counsel for the Appellant Association contends before us that in view of the circular issued by the Ministry of Health and Family Welfare, Department of Health, Government of India, New Delhi, the State Government was bound to permit the appellants to practise in the modern medicines subject to the limitations contained in the letter reference no.Ref.No.V.11016/3/82/ME(P) dated 15.07.1986.

We are in agreement with the view taken by the learned Single Judge in W.P. No.19448/2001 All India Association of Private Medical Practitioners (supra), following which the impugned judgment has been rendered and confirm the same.

For issuance of a writ of mandamus, a legal right has to vest in the person seeking the writ of mandamus. In the absence of any legal right, writ of mandamus cannot be sought for or granted by the Courts. Admittedly, members of the appellant-association are not qualified and registered with the State Medical Council. They cannot be permitted to practise either Modern Medicine or any other System of Medicine.

As per the Indian Medical Council Act, 1956 (Central Act 102 of 1956), no person can practise medicine without requisite qualification and registration with the concerned State Medical Council. Therefore, members of the Appellant-Association cannot either practise modern medicine or any other Indian System of Medicine.

It is not in doubt that only qualified and properly trained professionals are competent to man the medical treatment of the people. If the unqualified private practitioners like the members of the Appellant Association are allowed to treat the patients even for minor ailments, we are afraid, it may endanger the lives of the people.

On a query put to counsel for the Appellant Association, whether the circular issued by the Central Government was statutory or binding on the State Government, it was fairly conceded by the learned counsel that the circular issued by the Central Government was neither statutory nor was it binding on the State Governments. Otherwise also, the State of Tamil Nadu has shown its inability to enforce the regularisation of unqualified and unregistered medical practitioners in the State, which was duly communicated to the Central Government vide letter (Ms.) No.342, Health dated 3rd March, 1980 for the reasons mentioned therein.

Since successive writ petitions being filed by the appellants on the same cause of action seeking the same relief, which had been rejected earlier, has resulted in sheer wastage of the precious time of the Court, we dismiss the appeal with costs, which is quantified at Rs.50,000/-."

Ergo, the unreported judgment of this Court relied upon by the learned counsel for the petitioner can hardly be of any avail to the petitioner.

11. However, if, during investigation, it is found that the petitioner is a truly qualified Siddha doctor and that the medicine given by him had not worked out on the de facto complainant's son, it is needless to state that he cannot be prosecuted in this case.

Resultantly, this Criminal Original Petition is dismissed with the above observation. Connected M.P. is closed.
