The Hon'ble The Chief Justice]

WEB COPY

The private respondents, who were appointed 20 years ago as Headmasters, were sought to be denied the financial benefits on the ground that when they were initially appointed, they did not have the requisite qualification of five years experience as Secondary Grade Teachers. The admitted position is that there was no suppression by the private respondents of this fact or that they lack the qualification. They have been paid salary for 20 years. The learned single Judge, thus, opined that such appointment, after 20 years cannot be said to be irregular to deny them the consequential benefits.

2. We find no reason to interfere with the impugned order for the aforesaid reasons, with which, we are in complete agreement.

3. The writ appeals are dismissed. No costs. Consequently connected Miscellaneous Petitions are closed.
