

HON'BLE SRI JUSTICE M.S.K.JAISWAL

Crl.P.MP.No.12060 of 2016

and

CRIMINAL PETITION No.10988 of 2016

ORDER:

The criminal petition is filed under Section 482 Cr.P.C. to quash the proceedings in FIR No.66/2015 of Cyber Crimes P.S., Cyberabad, registered for the offences punishable under sections 419 and 420 of IPC and Section 66(c) and 72 of I.T. Act, 2000.

The 2nd respondent/de facto complainant and his counsel are present. The petitioner/accused and his counsel are also present.

Heard both sides and perused the record.

Basing on the complaint filed by the 2nd respondent/de facto complainant, the Station House Officer, Cyber Crimes Police Station registered the above crime for the offences alleged.

It is submitted by both parties that at the stage of investigation of the above crime, at the intervention of the elders, they have amicably settled their disputes concerning to the present case and hence compromise may be recorded and criminal proceedings in the above case may be quashed.

In Yogendra Yadav and others v. the State of Jharkhan^[1] the Supreme Court, in the matter of compromise of a non-compoundable offence, held as under:

“The question before this Court is whether this Court can compound the offences under Sections 326 and 307 of the IPC, which are non-compoundable. Needless to say that offences which are non-compoundable cannot be compounded by the court. Courts draw the power of compounding offences from Section 320 of the Code. The said provision has to be strictly followed (Gian Singh v. State of Punjab {(2012) 10 SCC 303}). However, in a given case, the High Court can quash a criminal proceeding in exercise of its power under Section 482 of the Code having regard to the fact that the parties have amicably settled their disputes and the victim has no objection, even though the offences are non-compoundable. In which cases the High Court can exercise its discretion to quash the proceedings depending on facts and circumstances of each case. Offences, which involve moral turpitude, grave offences like rape, murder etc. cannot be effaced by quashing the proceedings because that will have harmful effect on the society. Such offences cannot be said to be restricted to two individuals or two groups. If such offences are quashed, it may send wrong signal to the society. However, when the High Court is convinced that the offences are entirely personal in nature and, therefore, do not affect public peace or tranquility and where it feels that quashing of such proceedings on account of compromise would bring about peace and would secure ends of justice, it should not hesitate to quash them. In such cases, the prosecution becomes a lame prosecution. Pursuing such a lame prosecution would be waste of time and energy. That will also unsettle the compromise and obstruct restoration of peace.”

Having regard to the above submission and considering the fact that the parties have amicably settled the disputes among themselves out of Court and no useful purpose will be served even if the parties are driven to the trial as they compromised, and following the decision reported in Gian Singh v. State of Punjab and another^[2] the criminal miscellaneous petition is allowed and compromise is recorded, and consequently, proceedings in Cr.No.66 of 2015 of Cyber Crimes P.S., Cyberabad against the petitioner/A1 are hereby quashed.

The CrI.P.MP.No.12060 of 2016 and CrI.P.No.10988 of 2016 are accordingly allowed.

Pending miscellaneous applications, if any, shall stand closed.
