for the Insurance Company.

K.Kannan, J. (Oral)

A limited argument which is frivolous is brought by the State to contend that the deceased was earning interest on deposits and his death did not result any loss to the State. The value of life in India is not even lower than ₹2 lakh for a State to come on appeal challenging the quantum. It is an abuse of process. The appeal is dismissed as requiring no adjudication for the point urged with passion by the counsel.
