JITENDRA CHAUHAN, J. (Oral)

After filing the present appeal on 04.03.2015, the case is being repeatedly adjourned on one ground or the other. The learned counsel for the appellants states that the negotiations to reach the amicable settlement is in progress. However, he is unable to state that as and when the finality is likely to be reached. In this view of the matter, this Court feels that matter cannot be kept alive awaiting for the instructions indefinitely.

Dismissed for non-prosecution at this stage.

In case the negotiations fails, the aggrieved party may put up an application for revival of the present appeal.
