

Writ Petition No. 5727 of 2017

Versus

None for the Respondents.

DATE : JULY 20, 2017

2. We find that in a dispute which is purely between a member of the Cooperative Society on one hand and the Cooperative Society on the other hand, Cooperative Court is a competent forum to decide the said dispute. Even otherwise, the Petitioner having elected to pursue the remedy under Section 91 of the said Act, in our view, he is not entitled to again invoke jurisdiction of this Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India for the very same relief. Writ petition is therefore rejected, relegating the Petitioner to take recourse to the alternate remedy which is available for him in law.
