[Order of the Court was made by M.M.SUNDRESH, J.]

The petitioner, who is the wife of the detenu seeking to quash the detention order dated 05.12.2016, passed by the first respondent.

2.The learned counsel for the petitioner would submit that the petitioner was granted bail in the ground case. In one of the adverse cases, he has been remanded. But, no bail application has been filed. However, the detention order has been passed on the premise that he would get bail in all likelihood.

3. This Court considered the submissions made.

4. Admittedly, in the case on hand no bail application has been filed in the adverse case. The detaining authority made a general observation that in similar cases bail have been granted even without any specific reference to any individual case. Such a general statement cannot be the basis of passing the detention order.

5. In such view of the matter, we are inclined to set aside the detention order dated 05.12.2016, passed by the first respondent.

6. Accordingly, the Habeas Corpus Petition is allowed and the detention order dated 05.12.2016, passed by the first respondent, is quashed. The detenu is directed to be set at liberty, forthwith, unless his presence is required in connection with any other case.
