O R D E R

The petitioner was selected by the CENTAC for admission into medical course in the academic year 2014-15. The petitioner wrote the second professional Examination and in one paper namely forensic medicine, the petitioner was declared failed as the petitioner secured only 59 marks out of 120 in theory, while the petitioner ought to have secured 60/120 to be declared as pass, the petitioner sought for 1 mark as grace marks and to declare the petitioner as pass in Forensic Science. However, the University clarified by communication dated 24.05.2017 addressed to the various medical colleges regarding awarding of grace marks that the grace marks would be awarded for papers only if the candidate failed in single subject while appearing for all subjects prescribed for that particular session and if the candidate clears one paper of a particular session and sits for remaining papers in the subsequent sessions, he/she would not be eligible for grace marks. The said communication dated 24.05.2017 is being challenged before this Court.

2. Heard Ms.M.Devi Rudra, learned counsel for the petitioner; Mr.Stalin Abimanyu, learned standing counsel for the second respondent and Mr.V.P.Raman, learned standing counsel appearing for the third respondent.

3. There is no doubt regarding awarding of grace marks for single subject, provided the student had cleared the other papers in the single examination for that session and the grace marks should not be granted to those students who appears for examination in compartment.

4.As per the Pondicherry University Examination Regulations, the minimum marks for declaration of pass is given in the following tabular column:

	University	Internal Assessment	University + Internal Assessment aggregate + Viva
Theory	40%	35%	50%
Practical / Clinical (minimum)	50%	35%	50%

5.A perusal of the records would show that in respect of forensic medicine, the petitioner has got the following marks:

Theory - 41/80
 Oral - 11/20
 Practical - 29/50
 IA. Theory - 7/20
 IA. practical - 21/30

If the internal marks are taken into consideration, the petitioner would be failing in theory by obtaining 59/120 only viz., $41/80 + 11/20 + 7/20 = 59/120$, as the marks required for passing the paper is 60/120. Therefore, the petitioner is short of 1 mark as per the above said Regulations.

6. However, as per regulation 12 of the Medical Council of India regulation, internal assessment marks cannot be clubbed with the University examination (external) marks to ascertain whether a candidate has passed in the examination. Medical Council of India regulation 12(4) is extracted as follows:

"Pass: In each of the subjects, a candidate must obtain 50% in aggregate with a minimum of 50% in theory including oral and minimum of 50% in Practical/clinicals"

7. Therefore as per regulation 12 of Medical Council of India Regulations, the internal marks namely $7/20 + 21/30 = 28/50$ cannot be clubbed with the external marks namely $52/100 + 29/50 = 81/150$. If the Medical Council of India regulation prohibits clubbing internal marks with the external marks, in deciding the candidate as pass, the Pondicherry University cannot have a regulation contrary to the Medical Council of India's Regulation. Therefore, practical marks taken by the University to club it along with the external marks is erroneous. If Internal Assessment marks are eschewed and external marks are alone taken as factor to decide the result of the particular candidate, then the petitioner would be passing theory namely petitioner would be getting $52/100 + 29/50 = 81/150$. The minimum marks for passing in theory including oral is $50/100$. As far as practical is concerned, 25 is the minimum mark, whereas the petitioner obtained $28/50$. Therefore, the total marks obtained by the petitioner in external is $81/150$. At this stage, only internal marks have to be added and the internal marks obtained by the petitioner is $28/50$. Totally the petitioner has got $109/200$, whereas the minimum mark for passing is $100/200$. Therefore, without application of any grace marks, the petitioner has to be declared as pass in the paper. The above method is also supported by the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Maharashtra University Health Sciences, Rep. by Deputy Registrar Vs. Paryani Mukesh Jawaharlal and others reported in (2007) 10 SCC 201 Paragraph 27 of the judgment is extracted as follows:

27. We, therefore, accept the interpretation put forth by the University in respect of MCI Regulation 12 as correct and hold that Clauses 56(2) and 57 of amended University Ordinance 1 of 2002 are in consonance with Clauses (2) and (4) of MCI Regulation 12. We also hold that internal assessment marks cannot be clubbed with University examination (external) marks to ascertain whether a candidate has passed in theory with orals, and practicals. We further hold that the clarification given by MCI in its letter dated 17.09.2002 and the clarification in its reply-affidavit are contrary to MCI Regulation 12(4). Consequently, a student has to secure marks as follows to pass in a subject:

- (i) 35% in internal assessment (for eligibility to appear for University examination)
- (ii) 50% of the total marks for theory with orals (only externals)
- (iii) 50% of the marks for practicals/clinicals (only externals)
- (iv) 50% of the aggregate (total of externals and internals)

8. The guidelines given in the above judgment have been employed to declare that the petitioner has passed in forensic medicine. Though the petitioner has challenged the clarification dated 24.05.2017 by which it is clarified that no grace marks would be awarded to the student who is appearing for examination in compartment and the question of awarding grace marks would arise only in a single subject provided the candidate cleared all the papers in the examination in one session, except one paper. Further it is found that the petitioner has got the required marks as per Medical Council of India regulation and considering the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court and moulding the prayer, this Court declares the petitioner as having passed forensic medicine and the respondent University is directed to give the mark sheet declaring him as "pass". In view of the declaration that the petitioner has passed the paper namely forensic medicine, there should not be any prohibition for the petitioner to go for the third year and write the third professional Part A examination. The respondent/university is directed to receive the fees from the petitioner and allow the petitioner to write the third professional Part A examination.

With the above directions, this writ petition is disposed. Consequently, connected miscellaneous petitions are closed. No costs.
