(Judgment of the Court was delivered by A.SELVAM, J.)

Challenge in this Appeal Suit is to the Judgment and decree dated 30.06.2015 passed in Original Suit No.5 of 2011 by the Principal District Court, Sivagangai.

and some of the cheques are not honoured and some of the cheques are not presented at the request of the defendant. On 29.04.2009, the plaintiff has issued a legal notice. After receipt of the same, the defendant has given a reply. The defendant has admitted the transaction and also executed a pronote dated 12.02.2008. Since the defendant has not paid the amount, the present suit has been instituted for getting the relief sought therein.

4. In the written statement filed on the side of the defendant it is averred that most of the averments made in the plaint are false. It is false to say that the plaintiff has instituted a proceeding under Negotiable Instruments Act. It is also false to aver that the defendant has admitted all transactions and also execution of pronote as well as acknowledgment. The suit claim is barred by limitation, since there is no valid acknowledgment. It is a practice that at the time of receiving loan, as security, creditor has used to obtain blank cheques. The defendant is not bound to pay any amount to the plaintiff and there is no merit in the suit and the same deserves to be dismissed.

5. On the side of the plaintiff, a reply statement has been filed, wherein the averments made in the written statement are denied.

6. On the basis of the divergent pleadings raised on either side, the trial Court has framed necessary issues and after analysing both the oral and documentary evidence has decreed the suit as prayed for. Against the Judgment and decree passed by the trial Court, the present Appeal Suit has been preferred.

7. The sum and substance of the case of the plaintiff is that on various occasions, the defendant has received the amounts mentioned in the plaint and subsequently, he acknowledged his liability and also executed a pronote dated 12.02.2008. Since the defendant has not settled his liability, legal notice has been issued and even after receipt of the same, the defendant has not settled the amount. Under the said circumstances, the present suit has been instituted for the relief sought therein.

8. The defence put forth on the side of the defendant is that the defendant has not received anything from the plaintiff. The defendant has not executed any acknowledgment as well as pronote and further the suit claim is barred by limitation and therefore, the present suit deserves to be dismissed.

9. As stated earlier, the trial Court after considering the available evidence on record has decreed the suit as prayed for.

10. The learned counsel appearing for the appellant/defendant has contended to the effect that the defendant has received some amounts from the plaintiff and for the purpose of discharging the same, on various occasions, the defendant has repaid loans and further the plaintiff has not filed proper accounts and further the suit claim is barred by limitation and the trial Court without considering the available evidence on record has erroneously decreed the suit as prayed for and therefore, the Judgment and decree passed by the trial Court are liable to be set aside.

11. To controvert the contentions put forth on the side of the appellant/defendant, the learned counsel appearing for the respondent/plaintiff has laconically contended to the effect that in the instant case, voluminous documents have been filed for the purpose of proving the existing liability and further on 12.02.2008, the defendant has executed a pronote and the present suit has been filed within the period of limitation and no document has been filed on the side of the defendant and the trial Court after considering the overwhelming evidence available on record has rightly decreed the suit and therefore, the Judgment and decree passed by the trial Court do not require any interference.

12. In fact on the side of the plaintiff, as many as 53 documents have been exhibited and this Court has closely perused the same and ultimately found that the defendant has received the amounts mentioned in the plaint on various occasions and after some time, he has acknowledged his liability. Further, on 12.02.2008 the defendant has executed a pronote in favour of the plaintiff and the same has been marked as Ex.A2. The present suit has been instituted on 09.02.2011. Therefore, it is quite clear that the present suit is not barred by limitation.

13. The defence put forth on the side of the defendant is that he has not borrowed the amount mentioned in the plaint and whatever the loans received from the plaintiff, has already been discharged.

14.As adverted to earlier, on the side of the plaintiff enormous documents have been filed for the purpose of proving the alleged money transaction between the plaintiff and defendant. Since on the side of the plaintiff plenty of evidence is available for the purpose of establishing the money transaction mentioned in the plaint and since the defendant has executed Ex.A2, there is no incertitude in coming to a conclusion that the defence put forth on the side of the defendant is totally baseless and further the defendant has not specifically denied the signatures found in various documents including Ex.A2. Therefore, viewing from any angle, the argument put forth on the side of the appellant/defendant is of no use.

15.The trial Court after analysing the available evidence on record has rightly decreed the suit. In view of the discussion made earlier, this Court has not found any error in the Judgment and decree passed by the trial Court and altogether, the present Appeal Suit deserves to be dismissed.

16.In fine, this Appeal Suit is dismissed with cost. The Judgment and decree passed in Original Suit No.5 of 2011 by the Principal District Court, Sivagangai are confirmed. Consequently, MP(MD)No.1 of 2015 and CMP(MD)No.636 of 2017 are closed.
