Surya Kant, J. (Oral)

The appellant-Institute has filed this letters patent appeal under the apprehension that the direction issued by learned Single Judge in the last paragraph of the order dated 19.01.2017 is equally enforceable against it.

It appears to us that the direction pertaining to appointment of the candidates who were successful before the learned Single Judge has to be complied with by the banks concerned and not the appellant-Institute who is only an Institute which conducts the recruitment tests. Misconception in the mind of the appellant-authority is thus unnecessary. However, if need be, the appellant shall be at liberty to move an appropriate application before the learned Single Judge and seek further clarification of the order under appeal.

With liberty aforementioned, the appeal stands disposed of.
