These appeals are already disposed of by virtue of our order dated 24.01.2014. The matter has been listed thereafter from time to time with regard to compliance. The settlement which was arrived at between the parties was recorded on 24.01.2014 and it clearly indicated that the parties would be bound by the same. Consequently, there is no need for any further listing of these matters inasmuch as the parties are bound by the commitment made by them on 24.01.2014. In case of any non-compliance it would be open to the aggrieved party to file a contempt petition. The parties are directed to appear in the pending Criminal Miscellaneous Case No. 1699/2013 so that pending disputes can be concluded in terms of the settlement.
