Heard.

1. The applicant is apprehending her arrest in connection with Crime No.196/2016 registered at police station – Lalbag, District Rajnandgaon (C.G.) for alleged commission of offence under Section 420, 471, 429/34 of IPC.

2. Case of the prosecution is that the applicant and co-accused opened an account of a nonexistent company namely B.S.S.P. 3. Learned counsel for the applicant would submit that in so far as present applicant is concerned, she was only a paper partner and account was opened in her name only to facilitate work of the company of which the main working partner was co-accused Pramod Singh. As Pramod Singh has been granted regular bail, applicant being lady shall be protected by anticipatory bail.

4. On the other hand, learned counsel for the State opposes prayer and submits that more than one crore of rupees was deposited in the account in the name of the applicant, therefore, the applicant is also equally involved in the alleged commission of offence.

5. Taking into consideration the submissions of learned counsel for the parties and the amount involved, I am not inclined to grant anticipatory bail to the applicant, the application is rejected. At this stage, learned counsel for the applicant would argue that the Court below may be directed to consider application for regular bail as early as possible and preferably on the same day.
