Order On Board

20.07.2018

Per Ajay Kumar Tripathi, Chief Justice

The issue raised with regard to the protection to the villagers from wild elephants cannot be sorted out by the direction of this Court in individual cases. The Court is informed that various measures have already been taken in this regard in a lot of cases. The problem arises when human beings are encroaching into the territories and areas which are inhabited by the wild animals and that is the reason why they are coming in conflict with human beings for which a larger road map would be required.

Be that as it may, the writ application stands disposed off.
