CORAM : RAVINDRA V. GHUGE, J.
DATED : 23rd AUGUST, 2018.

PER COURT :

1. Heard the learned advocates.
2. This Appeal From Order was preferred for seeking custody of a male child, by the applicant wife. Since the child has now attained adulthood by reaching the age of 18 years, this Appeal becomes infructuous and, therefore, stands disposed off.
3. The pending Civil Application does not survive and stand disposed off.

4. I have also considered the submissions in Contempt Petition No. 276/13 and I have perused the report of Shri Subhash V. Bhor, learned Advocate who is also a trained counsellor. The child, at the relevant time, appeared to be reluctant to reside in a Boarding School.

5. In the backdrop of these factors, I deem it appropriate to dispose off the Contempt Petition and more so in view of the child has now attained adulthood.
