P.C.:-

1. Some of the petitioners herein have already lodged their claims with the Resolution Professional appointed by the National Company Law Tribunal (NCLT). Some have not. Those who have not state that they were advised that when their petition is pending here in this court and Provisional Liquidator has already been appointed, there was no need to lodge separate claim with Resolution Professional.

Mr.Chaturvedi for Resolution Professional states that Resolution plan is almost ready and it will be difficult to accept the claims of petitioners who are before this court as they have not lodged their claim with Resolution Professional.

2. Ms.Vardhan for the company states that even they have given a list of all claimants and creditors to the Resolution Professional. Therefore, it does not lie in the mouth of Resolution Professional to state that he shall not consider those claims of petitioners who have independently lodged petitions in this court and whose petitions are pending in this court.

3. In my view, this is an absolutely baseless excuse because Resolution Professional will certainly be aware about the existence of these petitions in this court and ought to have factored in these petitions in preparing his report.

4. Therefore, if the Resolution Professional has not considered the claims of all the petitioners whose petitions are pending in this court, he shall consider and include the same before submitting the Resolution plan to NCLT. All the petitioners who have not intimated to the Resolution Professional about their claim, shall do so on or before 24.9.2018.

5. In view of the above, since NCLT has passed an order under Section 7, on an application filed by one of the creditors, and moratorium is in place, all the petitioners herein request that petitions herein be transferred to NCLT and NCLT/Resolution Professional shall consider their claims as well. The time spent in these petitions until today shall be excluded and the creditors who are before this court and who have not intimated their claim independently to the Resolution Professional, are given time up to 24.9.2018 to lodge their claims and Resolution Professional and the committee of creditors shall consider these claims also while submitting the resolution plan.

6 In the circumstances, registry to transfer all the petitions with respective interim applications to NCLT who shall consider these claims in accordance with law.

All petitions stand transferred accordingly. All Company applications accordingly stand disposed.

Liberty to apply.

7 Company Petition No.444 of 2014 be listed for final hearing on 24.9.2018.

8 Ms.Vardhan states that the appeals filed by the Company in this court will be withdrawn within one week from today. Statement accepted.
