KRISHNA MURARI, C.J. (ORAL)

After the matter was heard for some time, when confronted with the observation that the arguments being advanced in support of the appeal do not find reference in the judgement of the learned Single Judge, it is contended that all the points being raised herein were also raised before the learned Single Judge, but somehow they were not referred to in the judgement. In such a situation, in our considered opinion, appropriate remedy available to the appellant is to go back to the learned Single Judge and point out the said fact.

Learned counsel for the appellant makes a request to permit withdrawal of this appeal with liberty to approach the learned Single Judge by making an appropriate application.

Prayer made is allowed.

Appeal stands dismissed as withdrawn.
