Order passed by the learned Single Judge, disposing of the writ petition, has been impugned by filing the present intra-court appeal.

The appellant was working as Tubewell Operator. His services were terminated on 18.12.2002. He raised demand notice more than 6 years later on 24.12.2008. The matter was referred to Labour Court. Keeping in view the material on record, the Labour Court directed payment of compensation of ₹25,000/- to the appellant, who was not found to be possessing qualification required for the job of Tubewell Operator. The learned Single Judge upheld the award of the Labour Court, however, directed that the amount of compensation be increased to ₹1,50,000/-, while specifically noticing that the appellant does not possess essential qualification required for the post of Tubewell Operator i.e. Diploma in Electrical Trade.

In view of the aforesaid facts, we do not find any error in the order, passed by the learned Single Judge. The appeal is accordingly dismissed. Consequently, the application seeking condonation of delay in filing the appeal is also dismissed.
