Learned counsel for the appellants submits that as the dispute between the parties stands resolved, nothing substantive survives in this appeal. Rather, he has been instructed to withdraw the same. However, he submits that nothing in concrete has been communicated to him.

That being so, the appeal is disposed of, as having been rendered infructuous. However, in the event, any cause of action or interest still survives, the appellants shall be at liberty to move an appropriate application for restoration of this appeal, for its decision on merits.
