CORAM:

JUSTICE PRATHIBA M. SINGH

Prathiba M. Singh, J. (Oral)

1. The present petition under Section 34 of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996 challenges the award dated 29th February, 2012 passed by the Learned Sole Arbitrator.

2. The Petitioner – Food Corporation of India (hereinafter, ‘FCI’) and M/s Garg Ginning & Rice Mills (hereinafter ‘miller’) had entered into a milling agreement dated 17th October, 1994. Under the said contract, the miller was to mill the paddy and supply the rice to FCI. As per the contract, FCI had supplied 42579 bags (27657.75.000 quintals) of fine variety to the miller for milling and to be delivered to FCI by 28th February, 1995. It is claimed by FCI that the miller had milled only 20481 bags (13046-39-700 quintals) of paddy by 28th February, 1995. The miller had also milled 9360 bags (5962.32.000 quintals) and supplied 4023.75 quintals after 28th February, 1995 and by 31st May, 1995. The balance paddy weighing 8055.11.800 quintals was not milled and sold by FCI to the miller.

3. The FCI, however, alleging breach of the agreement on part of the millar invoked arbitration for failure to mill the paddy on or before 28th February, 2018, claiming 1^{1/2} times rate of unmilled paddy as the economic cost. This claim of the FCI was rejected by the Learned Arbitrator.

4. A perusal of the award shows that the FCI had, after entering into the contract with the miller, for various reasons advertised for the open sale of unmilled paddy. It was the case of the miller that though the miller was ready and willing to mill the paddy and supply the rice, the FCI did not have adequate godown space to store the same and the FCI also did not communicate to the miller the place where the delivery was to be given. The Learned Arbitrator has recorded the submissions of the miller as under:

“The Respondents had milled 201481 bags of paddy weighing 13046-39-700 quintals by 28.2.2008. However, the period of the Agreement was extended to 30.4.1995 and further to 31.5.1995 vide DCI letter dated 02.05.1995. This period was again extended to 31.8.1995 vide FCI letter dated 14.08.1995.

That before the expiry of the extended date of 31.8.1995 the Respondents had milled further 9360 bags weighing 5962-32-00 quintals.

That the balance paddy in 12738 bags with a weight of 8055-11-800 was sold to the Respondents by the Claimant for Rs.33,13,753.00 before the end of the extended period of 31.08.1995.

That the Agreement was converted into agreement of sale and upon sale of balance paddy by the Claimant to the Respondents the principal Agreement stood concluded and nothing survived.

Furthermore, in 2004 following Hon’ble Supreme Court’s decision for appointment of an arbitrator FCI decided to settle all these cases out of court settlement on instructions from FCI Headquarters. A zonal committee was accordingly set up which recommended to ignore the provisions of claiming 1^{1/2} times of economic cost as balance paddy had been sold to the Millers and amount realized at government rates.

That the report of the zonal committee had revealed that FCI did not have any claim against the parties in 261 cases (which included the Respondents). It also recommended that the security deposit of the parties which were lying with FCI for years together be also released immediately without interest. The Committee report of 24.08.2004 was duly implemented by FCI and the matter was finally settled by a Deed of Settlement.

That having received the required percentage of rice and / or also money in lieu of the rice for the rest of the paddy stocks the Claimant did not have any claim / demand from the Respondents.”

5. A perusal of the above submissions made by the miller before the Arbitrator shows that FCI itself taken a policy decision to resort to having an open sale of unmilled paddy and under the said policy, the miller was given the option to purchase the unmilled paddy. It is categorically recorded that M/s Hindustan Rice Mills had milled and supplied 19,491.55 quintals and the balance was purchased by them at the approved rate.

6. This Court has had the occasion to deal with a similar matter of the same season 1994-95, in FCI v. S. K. International [OMP 487/2011 decision dated 23rd October, 2018] (hereinafter, 'FCI v. S.K. International'). The facts, in the present case, are similar to the said case. After a perusal of the various policy decisions of the government, the various circulars issued, etc., this Court has arrived at the following conclusions/findings:

- a. That during the season of 1994-95 a large number of contracts of similar nature were entered into;

- b. Though the paddy was stored in the miller's premises, but it was in joint custody of the miller and FCI;
 - c. That several millers had milled the paddy but FCI could not accept the supplies of the rice for various reasons.
 - d. Various policy decisions were taken, pursuant to which the government decided to issue notices for open sale of unmilled paddy. The said open sale notices were issued in March, 1995 and August, 1995.
 - e. Pursuant to the said open sale notices, several millers purchased the unmilled paddy or the same was sold in the open market.
 - f. Question of award of damages would have arisen if there was a breach of contract, whereas there was a supervening circumstance before the completion of the contract period i.e. the purchase under the open sale notices.
 - g. The Government also took policy decisions to enter into settlements with the millers.
 - h. Insofar as the millers, who had purchased the paddy was concerned, no legal claims were to be pursued against them.
 - i. Primarily legal claims were to be pursued against the millers who had pilfered or siphoned off unmilled paddy.
 - j. In several cases, no dues certificate and settlements were entered into.
7. Under these circumstances, in FCI v. S. K. International (supra), this Court has held as under:

“38. The intervening circumstances of notices for open sale during the currency of the contract go to the root of the matter insofar as it relates to implementation of the contract by the millers. The documents on record do demonstrate that a policy decision was taken not to create distress for the millers due to various reasons, not attributable to the millers and in view of the same the decision for open sale with the preferential right to the millers to buy was taken. The FCI cannot be seen to argue that it is entitled to the price of the unmilled paddy at the rates fixed by it and in addition it is entitled to 1 ½ times the rate of the paddy in the form of the economic cost. Such a double benefit cannot be granted, especially in cases where the millers have acted in a bonafide manner.

39. The court cannot lose sight of the fact that awards have to be passed in consonance with public policy. The documents on record show that there were various levels of consultation which went into the decision to sell the paddy by means of open sale. This shows that the Government had reconciled to the fact that the best step to take was to sell in the market and recover the cost of the paddy. Further the FCI was also given a benefit of Rs. 120 crores by the Central Government to compensate for the losses suffered by it. This is evident from letter dated 29th March, 2000.

40. The initiation of arbitration claim against the millers in the light of open sale notices and the correspondence, which is set out in the present case, clearly seems to be an erroneous step by the FCI against the miller and the documents on record shows clearly that even in the settlements entered into by FCI, it did not insist on the 1½ times of the economic cost of paddy. FCI is clearly being selective in the manner in which the arbitration cases are being pursued for more than two decades now. The FCI itself having taken a decision and given the option to the miller to purchase the paddy or having recovered the cost of the paddy by selling in the open market, was clearly in the knowledge of the fact that it had taken a policy decision consciously not to press the claim of economic cost. Despite this, in the arbitration proceedings it raised claims for the same which are totally untenable - except in the case where the millers had indulged in pilferage and siphoning off of paddy. Thus, the claim of 1½ times of the economic cost is not liable to be granted in favour of the FCI, in the facts of the present case.”

8. Apart from this, as per letter dated 8th November 2005, referred to in FCI v. S. K. International (supra) the clear understanding was that in cases where disputes were settled, no arbitrations were to be initiated. The said letter reads as under:

for Regional Manager”*

The said settlements were to be out of court/Arbitration. However, despite the same, arbitrations were initiated and claims were pursued.

9. The fact that FCI settled with a large number of millers is not in dispute. In some cases, the settlement amounts have been less than 10% of the claimed amount due. Since the entire unmilled paddy has been sold pursuant to the open sale notices and there is a clear statement acknowledging that there are no dues from this miller, the award is not liable to be set aside.

10. The Arbitrator in the impugned award, in these facts, has held as under:

“According to the accounts rendered above by the Claimant himself the Claimant owes Rs.48,463.00 to the Respondent. But the Respondent has not made any counter claim. Under the circumstances one can only leave it to the good conscience of the Claimant FCI which is a Public Sector Undertaking to deal with it appropriately, The Claimant’s claim of 1 ½ times the economic cost is denied and the claim petition dismissed. Both parties will pay their arbitration fee and bear their own costs. The Award is made accordingly.”

11. This reasoning of the Arbitrator is sound and tenable inasmuch as once the FCI itself had fixed the rate for open sale of the paddy and the miller had purchased the entire unmilled paddy and paid rate fixed by the FCI, the penal rate of the economic cost cannot be demanded by the FCI. Accordingly, the award does not warrant any interference. The petition is, accordingly, dismissed.
