3. The said application was filed under Order 32 Rule 7 (1) of the CPC for granting leave to enter into compromise by the petitioners with respondent No.19.

4. It is stated by Sri V.Ramachandra Goud, learned counsel for the petitioners and Sri H.Venugopal, learned counsel, appearing for respondent No.19, that subsequently there has been a compromise entered into by the petitioners and the 19th respondent and this Court ought to record the said compromise in this Revision Petition.

5. In this Revision Petition, respondent Nos.1 to 18 have been shown as not necessary parties.

6. Therefore, it is not known what stand the said parties would take as regards the recording of the instant compromise.
