Prayer is for quashing of 'kalendra' under Section 182 of the Indian Penal Code.

On 29.10.2019, keeping in view the facts of the case, following order was passed:-

“Prayer is for quashing of 'kalendra' under Section 182 of the Indian Penal Code.

*Petitioners allege that they are being haunted by the police at the behest of political heavyweights.
Petitioners claim that they are owners of the land, which is sought to be usurped by respondent no.2, who is brother of sitting member of legislative assembly, Punjab. It is claimed that petitioners filed a civil suit in which injunction in their favour has been confirmed up to the Hon'ble Supreme Court. Petitioners, in order to protect their possession, moved an application before the police on which a 'kalendra' in question has been filed against them.*

Keeping in view the aforesaid facts, State counsel is directed to file affidavit of Director General of Police, Punjab, after examining the facts which have come on record, within one week.

Adjourned to 18.11.2019.”

Today, counsel appearing for the petitioners and respondent no.2 have jointly stated that the parties have entered into a settlement/compromise and number of litigations pending between the parties are being settled through the aforesaid settlement/compromise. A photocopy of the settlement/compromise arrived at between the parties has been filed.

Proceedings under Section 182 IPC is for lodging a false complaint. Once the parties have resolved their disputes and get their petitions/suits/criminal cases disposed of in terms of the settlement/compromise, therefore, it is considered appropriate to quash proceedings initiated under Section 182 of the Indian Penal Code, which was registered on the application moved by respondent no.2.

Disposed of accordingly.
