This Criminal Writ Petition has been filed under Article 226 Constitution of India seeking issuance of writ in the nature of Mandamus for directing respondent No.2 to protect the life and liberty of the petitioners, who apprehended danger at the hands of respondent Nos.3 to 11.

During the course of hearing, it is not disputed by learned counsel for the petitioners that petitioner No.2 is a minor girl, who is residing with her parents (natural guardians). Learned counsel submits that petitioner No.1 is also in custody of the private respondents and he has apprehension of threat. It is pointed out that he is residing with them w.e.f. 23.12.2019, however, learned counsel is unable to justify the filing of the petition on 24.12.2019. Further a perusal of the representation dated 23.12.2019 (Annexure P-3) reveals that the petitioners have not married and there is no mention of the fact that petitioner No.1 is residing with the private respondents.

In view of above, the contents of the petition do not inspire confidence and, therefore, no case is made out for invoking extraordinary writ jurisdiction.

The petition is dismissed.
