ORAL ORDER

4 02-09-2020 Despite e-mail link sent in advance and, in fact, twice attempt was made to be contacted on phone, counsel for the petitioner has not responded in the present case. Mr. Arun Kumar Pandey, learned Additional Public Prosecutor for the

The petitioner apprehends arrest in connection with under Sections 363 and 366 of the Indian Penal Code pending in the Court of the Additional Sessions Judge-3rd, Samastipur.

In this case, case diary was called for and on perusal of the case diary, the Court vide order dated 19.06.2020
indicated that petitioner does not deserve anticipatory bail.
However, on the ground of personal difficulty, the case was adjourned.

Today no one appears on behalf of the petitioner. The court examined the case diary and materials available on the record and is of the considered view that the present case is not a fit case for grant of anticipatory bail. It is, accordingly, rejected.

In the event the petitioner surrenders and pray for regular bail, the court below shall dispose of the regular bail application on the same day without being prejudiced by the dismissal of the present application for anticipatory bail.
