Heard through video conferencing.

This is a petition under Section 482 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 for quashing of FIR No.63 dated 25.09.2019 under Sections 363 and 366 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 registered at Police Station Sadar Pathankot, District Pathankot on the basis of compromise dated 06.10.2020 (Annexure P-2).

On 29.10.2020, the following order was passed:-

“This is a petition under Section 482 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 for quashing of FIR No.63 dated 25.09.2019 under Sections 363 and 366 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 registered at Police Station Sadar Pathankot, District Pathankot on the basis of compromise dated 06.10.2020 (Annexure P-2) arrived at between the parties.

Learned counsel for the petitioner has contended that the present FIR is the outcome of an act that the petitioner and respondent No.3 had solemnized their marriage against the wishes of their parents. He has further contended that now the parties have since compromised the matter and the petitioner and respondent No.3 are happily residing together as husband and wife. In view thereof, the complainant does not now wish to pursue the FIR. Learned counsel for the petitioner has relied upon the judgement of Hon'ble Supreme Court rendered in "Gian Singh V/s State of Punjab and another" 2012 (4) RCR (Criminal) 543 and the Larger Bench's judgement of this Court in "Kulwinder Singh and others V/s State of Punjab and another" 2007 (3) RCR (Criminal) 1052, to contend that even in non-compoundable offences, if the parties have entered into a compromise, this Court has wide powers under Section 482 CrPC to quash the proceedings to prevent abuse of law and secure the ends of justice.

Notice of motion.

On the asking of the Court, Mr. Ramandeep Sandhu, Sr. DAG, Punjab, has joined the session through video conferencing and accepts notice on behalf of respondent No.1-State. Mr. Rimple Saini, Advocate, who has also joined the Court proceedings through video conferencing, accepts notice for respondent Nos.2 and 3. Copy of the petition has already been supplied to both the counsel.

Learned counsel appearing for respondent Nos.2 and 3 has stated that the parties have since entered into a compromise dated 06.10.2020, a copy whereof is annexed as Annexure P-2 with the petition. He further submits that the said compromise has been entered into and duly signed by the complainant and the petitioner without any undue influence, coercion or pressure of any kind and now the parties have no grudge against each other and further that respondent Nos.2 and 3 have no objection if the aforesaid FIR is quashed.

List on 22.12.2020.

Meanwhile, the parties are directed to appear before the concerned CJM/Illaq Magistrate/Trial Court on 16.11.2020, or on any other date convenient to the Court, for recording of their statements. The CJM/Illaq Magistrate/Trial Court is directed to record the statements of the parties to its satisfaction qua the genuineness of the compromise and that the same is not the result of any undue influence, coercion or pressure of any kind. A report, along-with the statements of the parties, on the following points be sent to this Court before the next date of hearing:

- 1) Whether the settlement/compromise dated 06.10.2020 (Annexure P-2) has been freely entered into between the parties without any undue influence, coercion or pressure of any kind.
- 2) Whether any other criminal cases are pending against the parties.
- 3) Whether any proclamation proceedings are pending against either of the parties."

Pursuant to the order dated 29.10.2020, the statements of the parties were recorded and a report has been received from the Chief

Judicial Magistrate, Pathankot wherein it has been stated that the compromise arrived at between the parties is genuine and without any pressure or coercion. It has further been stated in the report that there are no proclamation proceedings pending against any of the parties nor any other case is pending against parties.

The Apex Court in the case of “Gian Singh V/s State of Punjab & Anr.” 2012 (10) SCC 303, has held as under:-

“56. We find no incongruity in the above principle of law and the decisions of this Court in Simrikhia, Dharampal, Arun Shankar Shukla, Ishwar Singh, Rumi Dhar (Smt.) and Ashok Sadarangani. The principle propounded in Simrikhia that the inherent jurisdiction of the High Court cannot be invoked to override express bar provided in law is by now well settled. In Dharampal, the Court observed the same thing that the inherent powers under section 482 of the Code cannot be utilised for exercising powers which are expressly barred by the Code. Similar statement of law is made in Arun Shankar Shukla. In Ishwar Singh, the accused was alleged to have committed an offence punishable under Section 307 Indian Penal Code and with reference to Section 320 of the Code, it was held that the offence punishable under Section 307 Indian Penal Code was not compoundable offence and there was express bar in Section 320 that no offence shall be compounded if it is not compoundable under the Code. In Rumi Dhar (Smt.)²⁸ although the accused had paid the entire due amount as per the settlement with the bank in the matter of recovery before the Debts Recovery Tribunal, the accused was being proceeded with for commission of offences under Section 120B/420/467/468/471 of the Indian Penal Code along with the bank officers who were being prosecuted under Section 13(2) read with 13(1)(d) of Prevention of Corruption Act. The Court refused to quash the charge against the accused by holding that the Court would not quash a case involving a crime against the society when a prima facie case has been made out against the accused for framing the charge. Ashok Sadarangani was again a case where the accused persons were charged of having committed offences under sections 120B, 465, 467, 468 and 471, Indian Penal Code and the allegations were that the accused secured the credit facilities by submitting forged property documents as collaterals and utilised such facilities in a dishonest and fraudulent manner by opening letters of credit in respect of foreign supplies of goods, without actually bringing any goods but inducing the bank to negotiate the letters of credit in favour of foreign suppliers and also by misusing the cash-credit facility. The Court was alive to the reference made in one of the present matters and also the decisions in B.S. Joshi, Nikhil Merchant and Manoj Sharma and it was held that B.S.

Joshi, and Nikhil Merchant dealt with different factual situation as the dispute involved had overtures of a civil dispute but the case under consideration in Ashok Sadarangani was more on the criminal intent than on a civil aspect. The decision in Ashok Sadarangani supports the view that the criminal matters involving overtures of a civil dispute stand on a different footing.

57. The position that emerges from the above discussion can be summarized thus: the power of the High Court in quashing a criminal proceeding or FIR or complaint in exercise of its inherent jurisdiction is distinct and different from the power given to a criminal court for compounding the offences under Section 320 of the Code. Inherent power is of wide plenitude with no statutory limitation but it has to be exercised in accord with the guideline engrafted in such power viz; (i) to secure the ends of justice or (ii) to prevent abuse of the process of any Court. In what cases power to quash the criminal proceeding or complaint or F.I.R may be exercised where the offender and victim have settled their dispute would depend on the facts and circumstances of each case and no category can be prescribed. However, before exercise of such power, the High Court must have due regard to the nature and gravity of the crime. Heinous and serious offences of mental depravity or offences like murder, rape, dacoity, etc. cannot be fittingly quashed even though the victim or victim's family and the offender have settled the dispute. Such offences are not private in nature and have serious impact on society. Similarly, any compromise between the victim and offender in relation to the offences under special statutes like Prevention of Corruption Act or the offences committed by public servants while working in that capacity etc; cannot provide for any basis for quashing criminal proceedings involving such offences. But the criminal cases having overwhelmingly and pre-dominantly civil flavour stand on different footing for the purposes of quashing, particularly the offences arising from commercial, financial, mercantile, civil, partnership or such like transactions or the offences arising out of matrimony relating todowry, etc. or the family disputes where the wrong is basically private or personal in nature and the parties have resolved their entire dispute. In this category of cases, High Court may quash criminal proceedings if in its view, because of the compromise between the offender and victim, the possibility of conviction is remote and bleak and continuation of criminal case would put accused to great oppression and prejudice and extreme injustice would be caused to him by not quashing the criminal case despite full and complete settlement and compromise with the victim. In other words, the High Court must consider whether it would be unfair or contrary to the interest of justice to continue with the criminal proceeding or continuation of the criminal proceeding would tantamount to abuse of process of law despite settlement and compromise between the victim and wrongdoer and whether to secure the ends of justice, it is appropriate that criminal case is put to an end and if the answer to the above question(s) is in affirmative, the High Court shall be well within its jurisdiction to quash the criminal proceeding.”

Learned counsel for the petitioner has also referred to the law laid down by this Court in “Kulwinder Singh &Ors. Vs. State of Punjab &Anr.” 2007 (3) RCR (Criminal)1052, wherein it has been held that even in non-compoundable offences, if the parties have entered into a compromise, this Court has wide powers under Section 482 CrPC to quash the proceedings to prevent abuse of law and secure the ends of justice.

In view of the above and keeping in view the report by the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Pathankot that the parties have genuinely entered into a compromise and all the disputes between the parties have been resolved, it would not be in the interest of justice to continue the criminal proceedings.

Resultantly, FIR No.63 dated 25.09.2019 under Sections 363 and 366 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860 registered at Police Station Sadar Pathankot, District Pathankot stands quashed.

The petition is accordingly allowed.
