CORAM : S. V. GANGAPURWALA
AND
R.N. LADDHA, JJ.

DATE : 20-09-2021

PER COURT : -

1. If the petitioners have an apprehension that their properties would be affected and the respondents may encroach upon their properties without due process of law, the petitioners are entitled to seek injunction before the Civil Court. It is submitted that the encroachment has not been made on the lands of the petitioners as yet. In that event, the petitioners have remedy before the Civil Court.

2. With the aforesaid observations, the Writ Petition is disposed of. All the contentions are kept open. No costs.
