Versus
Rahul Prakash Pawar	.. Respondent

...

Ms. Rukmini Khairnar for the applicant.
Mr. Mayuresh D. Modgi for the respondent.

CORAM: BHARATI DANGRE, J.
DATED : 29th OCTOBER 2021.

P.C:-

1 Today, the consent terms drawn between the applicant and respondent on 29th October 2021 are placed on record. The said consent terms are inked by the applicant and respondent and also by the respective counsel. Further, the applicant and respondent are also present in the Court. The terms are taken on record and marked 'X' for identification.

2 By the said consent terms drawn between the parties by their consent, they have settled the dispute amicably and in para-4, they have set out the understanding which is reached between them. The statement in para-4 is accepted by the parties as full and final settlement between them and it is also stated that the consent terms will bind both of them and in case of breach of the conditions by any of the parties, the other party will be at liberty to initiate the proceedings to redress the grievance. In the event of the said consent terms, nothing survives in the Miscellaneous Application and it stands disposed of.

3 As a part of the consent terms, demand draft of Rs.5,00,000/- is made over to the respondent wife which is received and acknowledged by her in this Court.
