ORDER

This writ petition is filed by one Mrs.J.Leena Josiah, the first petitioner herein who claims herself to be a founder and President of Tamil Nadu Private Drivers Wives Association. According to the petitioners, the Association appears to be aggrieved by demolition of Association property and in that regard, complaints have been preferred to the Authority concerned. The complaints in fact are against the State Authorities and direction sought by the petitioners is also to the State Authority.

2. The averments that contained in the affidavit filed in support of the writ petition are completely jumbled up and disjointed and do not disclose any specific cause of action nor does it disclose any legal sense for this Court to entertain the writ petition.

3. This Court is also unable to understand what is the locus standi of the petitioners and what is the illegal action of the State Authorities against whom complaints were sought to be made. According to this Court, the facts are completely incoherent and on the basis of such averments, this Court cannot issue any writ as prayed for by the petitioners.

4. Moreover, several unconnected facts have been stated and there cannot be any blanket direction to deal with the cocktail of facts mentioned by the petitioner and in case, the petitioners are truly aggrieved by any particular action of the State Authority, it is always open to them to resort to a remedy in a manner known to law. But it is certainly not open to the petitioners to invoke the extraordinary remedy of issuance of writ of mandamus for the redressal of multiple grievances of the petitioners in one writ petition. This Court, even otherwise, is not convinced that it can intervene in the petitioners' cause on the basis of the incoherent, self serving averments and is therefore, not inclined to entertain the writ petition.

5. Accordingly, the writ petition is dismissed. No costs. Consequently, connected miscellaneous petitions are closed.
