2.The case of the prosecution is that the petitioners and the defacto complainant are relatives. Due to existing dispute between the two families there was a wordy quarrel and the petitioners have attacked the defacto complainant and his family members, thereby sustaining injuries. Hence, the defacto complainant has lodged a complaint against the petitioners.

3.The learned counsel appearing for the petitioners would submit that they are innocent and they have not committed any offence as alleged by the prosecution. He further submits that the injured have been discharged from the hospital. However, he vehemently opposed for the grant of anticipatory bail to the petitioners.
